MODERN COMFORT

A modern interior with a natural and neutral base that invites relaxation. In addition to being atmospheric, the furniture in this interior is functional, comfortable, and timeless. Accessories are certainly present in this style, but used sparsely. The guiding principle for this style is undoubtedly "less is more." The warmth in this interior is mainly found in the warm wood tones and soft fabrics.

SIMPLISTIC TIMELESS AND BOLD

The unique designs of in-house
designer Suzan Michelet

Suzan considered the architecture program to be a bit too monotonous. That's why, after a year, she switched to product design. Fully in her element, she now designs home accessories and small furniture for By-Boo. With her style and vision, she creates items that are timeless, simplistic, and at the same time bold; pieces that make By-Boo's collections truly unique.

The Designer

Name: Suzan Michelet.

Style: Simplistic, timeless and bold.

Favorite inspiration: Copenhagen Design Week.

Signature: Subtle curves. No exaggerated organic shapes, but softly rounded forms that create a friendly appearance.

Season after season, Suzan continues to expand the collection with more of her own designs. The items she creates are always born out of demand, trends and her own vision. The furniture and accessories she designs make the By-Boo collection one of a kind. The complete collection always offers a mix of neutral and more outspoken items that can be effortlessly combined.

Inspired and ready, every new item starts with extensive ideation sketching. "Extensive" is precisely the strength of this process. Through numerous small and quick sketches, all initial ideas are visualized. Narrowed down to about three potential designs, these items are then rendered and 3D-printed to get a clear picture of the final design. After making adjustments where necessary, the actual production process begins.

In the latest collection, one of the focal points was expanding and diversifying the product category of vases. This resulted in two vases designed by Suzan: Mae and Chunky. Two completely different vases, each with its own strengths.

"Mae is made of 3D-printed ceramic, a technique I was eager to explore. Vases created with this technique already existed, but mostly had stylized shapes. With Mae's design, I specifically sought a more organic form. Chunky, on the other hand, reflects more of my signature style: a simplistic design with curves. To me, it's truly a timeless piece with a warm appearance thanks to the coloured glass. Chunky also has a fun dual function: it's actually two separate vases that fit together, giving you the option to present them in different ways."

While we enjoy the current collections, Suzan is already busy working on upcoming ones. A small teaser: get ready for vintage and design influences, glossy finishes, and an extensive range of lighting.

BEHIND THE SCENES

The Urban Cotton studio is where art is transformed into wall decoration, just the way you composed it.

Affordable art is a trend that is emerging more and more. From online webshops to small boutiques selling art prints and frames. As a wholesaler, Urban Cotton sets itself apart. From collecting art to producing wall decorations, Urban Cotton does it all in-house.

Urban Cotton crafts art into high-quality wall decorations in its own studio in the Netherlands. This ensures that the quality is guaranteed from start to finish– from printing to finishing, and from packaging to delivery. Everything is done with the utmost care for you.

Artworks are carefully digitized and then printed and produced in the studio into the wall decorations you configured. High-quality printing ensures that even the smallest details are preserved. Brushstrokes, textures, and materials remain visible, preserving the identity of each artwork and sharing the vision of every artist.

Ordered a wall decoration? It will be specially crafted for you in the studio. Even if you opt for a large wall hanging measuring 145x190 cm, it will arrive assembled and ready for display. All you need to do is decide where to showcase your Urban Cotton art.

The search for new art and collaborations with artists never stops. From well-known names to emerging talents, art deserves a platform. Beyond expanding its art collection, Urban Cotton is constantly innovating by adding new materials and hanging systems to its range. In addition to art prints and cotton wall hangings, Urban Cotton has introduced a third material: glass.

The future of Urban Cotton is full of artistic possibilities. With the new printer acquired last year, the opportunities for printing on various materials are endless.
